Little Rock, Oct. 8.—A heavy rain was reported on the Memphis and St. Louis road.

The Evangelical Alliance.
New York, Oct. 8.—In the Alliance, Prof. W. Kraft, D.D., read a paper on papal infallibility and old Catholicism. He said that the true dogmas of the Catholics are the universal jurisdiction and infallibility of the Pope. The official press of Rome published that when the Pope thought it was Christ thinking in Rome, Christ was visible in the Pope. Roman anti-Christianity never was as strong as in our day. It was arrogant of the Catholic Church to hold under the Evangelical Council. No one was represented in it but Cardinals, Bishops and a few laymen.

Assistance for Memphis and Shreveport.
PORTSMOUTH, Va., Oct. 8.—The City Council of Portsmouth, Va., last night appropriated five hundred dollars for the Memphis and two hundred dollars for the Shreveport suffering from the cholera epidemic. An appointed committee to collect contributions.

Situation in Memphis.
MEMPHIS, Oct. 7.—A heavy frost occurred here last night and there are indications of another to-night. It is thought that to-day there will be a larger number of new yellow fever cases developed than any other day heretofore. There are about 600 cases. There were 42 internments to-day of persons who died from yellow fever and 12 from other diseases. Among the former was Father Carry.

Death of a Telegraph Operator.
SHREVEPORT, Oct. 8.—Alfred Saville, of the Western Union Telegraph Company, died last night. He volunteered to come here from Memphis. He was a noble-hearted and genial man. He married at Columbus, Miss., during the war, and was active as a telegrapher at the front.

Foreign News.
LONDON, Oct. 8.—Bishop Reinkeins, of the Old Catholic Church, to-day took the oath of allegiance to the Emperor. The customary formula was gone through with, with the exception of the reservation of first allegiance to the Pope, which was omitted.

Midnight Dispatches.
New York, Oct. 8.—A fire at Mount Vernon destroyed twenty buildings. The loss was fifty thousand dollars.

The third trial of Stokes commenced to-day. Stokes is a little grayer, but otherwise looks well.

In the Alliance a paper from the Old Catholic Congress, recently in session at Constance, signed by Bishop Reinkeins, Prof. Dr. Venschulte and others, addressed to the Conference, was read by Dr. Schaff, who produced the reading by a few interesting remarks. The paper was in response to a request for representatives from that organization. Mr. Schaff said that the address was now being interpreted and would appear to-morrow. Dr. Schaff recounted the action of the Congress, among which are the establishment of an evangelizing mission in the Catholic Church, the abolition of confession, the allowing the Priests to marry, and the extending of the right to females of having a voice in the government of the Church. In closing Dr. Schaff said that the old Catholic Church now had 56 congregations, fifty thousand members and forty Priests, and that next winter six students would be educated in the College at Bonn.

The Bazine Court Martial.
PARIS, Oct. 8.—In the Bazine court martial today the hearing of M. Reverier's proceedings was continued. M. Reverier's proceeds to show that the means of communication between Metz and Paris were ample. Bazine's refusal to combine his forces with the other armies in the field was criminal. The Marshal is accused of pursuing a personal policy by which the enemy profited. There is evidence that he even refused to assist in the effort made to provision Metz. Bazine's action is attributed partially to hesitation caused by the news from Sedan and Paris and partial negotiation with the enemy. Whatever there was in France he should have fought for it, instead of listening to the overtures of the enemy, receiving their agents and plotting for the restoration of the empire.

Had Bazine done his duty by taking his army into the interior of France, leaving Metz to defend herself with a garrison which could subsist on the resources of the surrounding country, Metz would have been until the armistice, and Lorraine would never have been ceded.

The hearing of the remainder, with other documents condemning Bazine's management of the commission at Metz, will probably occupy the entire week, and the examination of witnesses will not begin until Monday next. The Government at first refused to allow writs for witnesses to be served in Alsace and Lorraine, but special negotiations have overcome its objections.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 8.—For Atlantic and Eastern Gulf States, light winds, mostly northwest, with fair weather.

MADRID, Oct. 8.—The Remington rifle sold on the British steam yacht Deerhound have been deposited in the arsenal at Ferrol. Firing was kept up all day yesterday, between the Cartaginian insurgents and the beseeching troops. There is some fear in the Republic court. A battalion having been ordered to the service in the defense of the Republic, President Castellar has addressed them a letter thanking them for their offer but refused.

Some of our citizens left yesterday morning for the Norfolk Fair.

We learn that two marriages take place in this city to-day. Verily the matrimonial fever rages here.

There is a letter held in the Portsmouth, Va., post office, for lack of postage, addressed to M. L. Jenkins, Raleigh, N. C.

We hear that a cock fight will take place near this city some time during Fair week. We learn that a number of birds will be matched.

Gen. M. W. Ransom passed through the city yesterday en route to Salisbury, where he will deliver a lecture at the Fair now going on there.

The Board of Directors of the Penitentiary were in session on Tuesday and yesterday. We learn that the chief business transacted was auditing accounts.

Now is the time for boarding house keepers to advertise. People at a distance, who intend visiting the Fair, are searching the Raleigh papers for just such advertisements.

Our friends who are laying in their supplies for Fair week, would do well to call on A. G. Lee & Co. in N. C. Hams, chickens and eggs.

A telegram has been received by Capt. R. T. Fulghum, Secretary of the State Agricultural Society, from Hon. D. W. Voorhes, stating that if no unforeseen occurrence prevented he would be here on time.

A party of United States soldiers were arrested Tuesday night for being drunk and disorderly on the streets, and lodged in the city house.

Yesterday morning they were turned over to the commanding officer at the garrison.

Attention is directed to the advertisement of J. M. Rosenbaum, which will be found in another column. Mr. R. is located at the corner of Fayetteville and Hargett streets, opposite the drug store of Williams & Haywood.

The following letters are held in the Post office of this city for lack of proper postage:
J. D. Parish, Clayton, N. C.; Miss E. G. Sherwood, Baltimore; Charles P. Stevens, Baltimore; Smith & Nicholson, Baltimore; Miss Mary A. Bernard, Greenville, N. C.

The other day a gentleman of this city, who shall be nameless, was driving a restive horse and, having occasion for a curb-chain, made use of his valuable watch chain. The drive being over, the chain was forgotten and the horse sent to the stable with it on him. The absent-minded gentleman no longer hangs out a sign that he has a time-piece.

THE WESTERN N. C. TOBACCO LEAF AND PLANTER'S JOURNAL.—We have received the first number of this journal in its enlarged form. It was formerly published in Greensboro, but has been removed to Statesville. It is published monthly and contains twenty-eight columns of reading matter. The subscription price is $1 per annum and ten thousand copies will be distributed gratuitously. Mr. J. R. Morris is the managing editor. The prospectus says:

"It will be devoted to the tobacco and farming interests of the planters in Western North Carolina, without regard to party or section. It will aim to build up the farming interests of all, and to that end will cheerfully publish communications from any one interested in these questions of vital importance."

To THE LADIES.—The splendid building, Floral Hall, on the new Fair Grounds, is ready to be decorated and arranged for the entertainment of the ladies. The ladies of Raleigh and the young gentlemen are cordially and specially invited to visit the Grounds to-day, at 2 o'clock, p. m., and assist in the pleasant work of beautifying the room set apart for the ladies. A hearty welcome to all.

EDUCATIONAL.—PROF. McIVER'S LETTER to GEN. BARRINGER.—The following letter from Prof. Alexander McIVER, Superintendent of Public Instruction, to Gen. Rufus Barringer, of Charlotte, explains itself:

RALEIGH, N. C., Oct. 7, 1873.
Gen. RUFUS BARRINGER:

Dear Sir:—In answer to your letter of yesterday, I send you a copy of a letter written by H. Howard, Esq., one of the pioneers in the Union School movement of Binghamton, N. Y., and published in the Ithaca Journal, in contemplation of establishing in Ithaca a school system like that of Binghamton. The following is the letter:

"At the school meeting last evening, the question was asked: 'What is meant by Free Graded Union Schools?' As there may be others asking the same question, I give you the following answer which you may publish if you think best: 'They are called free, because tuition is without expense to the pupil; graded, because the pupils are classified according to age and attainments; union, because the schools hitherto known as the common and select schools, are united or consolidated into one system, and superintended by the best disciplinarian and administrator that can be found. They afford all the advantages of the common and select schools and academies, with none of their disadvantages; and wherever they are established they give the utmost satisfaction. They are thorough, efficient and economical. Both time and money are saved. One teacher will go further than three dollars under the old system, and besides this, the greatest of all saving is the higher moral tone which invariably pervades the union system, rendering it an exception to the general rule, for of pupils to depart from the union school capable of vice. This system annihilates caste and aristocracy among our youth. It diminishes the inequalities among men. Intelligence, honesty and integrity are the result of which all are tried, and by which every one must stand or fall. The system promotes harmony; charity, grace and dignity are cultivated. The least fortunate of the community are not despised, while the highest in intellect are still higher, by every means that can aid them. In a word it contains the true American idea; true democracy prevails in it to a greater extent than in any other system yet devised. This system lessens taxes in proportion to what is received. Property is better protected. This protection is secured by elevating all the youth above the reach of the temptations of the street. The system increases the population of all places in which it is established, and means improvement in all respects."

I may add that the system has been established not only in many of the Northern cities, but in many of the cities of Virginia and Georgia; and wherever it has been thoroughly tested, it has never been abandoned."

If all the schools for white children in the city of Charlotte were brought under one system, there would perhaps be three or four hundred children to be arranged in the different grades or classes of the system. The only basis of classification would be age and attainments. The rich and poor would sit side by side in the same room, under the same instruction, and amenable to the same discipline. The studies of each grade must be thoroughly mastered before advancing to the next grade. The different grades may be in separate houses; they should, as far as practicable, be in separate rooms and under different teachers. All the grades working in harmony with each other constitute the graded school. The superintendent of such a school frequently visits all the grades or classes, sees that proper discipline is everywhere maintained, and that the proper modes of instruction are every where observed and adhered to. He frequently gets the teachers together and instructs them in the modes of teaching, encourages them and animates them to higher efforts in their noble work. Such a system would not only benefit the children, but the teachers. One energetic, competent Superintendent, devoted to his work, would very soon educate teachers in discipline and in the modes of instruction, and the work would go on increasing in its progress.

Very respectfully,
ALEXANDER McIVER,
Supt. Pub. Instruction.

THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE OF THE STATE AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY, DORSETT PRESIDENT, DR. BLACKALL SECRETARY, WITH A WATCH AN CHAIN—HE PRIZES THE COMPLIMENT BUT REFUSES THE GIFT.—At a recent meeting of the Executive Committee of the State Agricultural Society, it was voted to present Dr. G. W. Blackall with a watch and chain as a recognition of his active and unwearied efforts in behalf of the State Agricultural Society and the Fair. In this action the Committee is endorsed by all of our citizens. They appreciate his zealous labors in behalf of the Fair, and heartily join in this manifestation of esteem and appreciation. The following is the correspondence which ensued:

RALEIGH, N. C., Oct. 5, 1873.
DR. G. W. BLACKALL:

Dear Sir:—As a token of the Society's appreciation of your valuable aid, rendered in various ways for months past, and for your zeal and great efforts in behalf of our approaching Fair, the Executive Committee at its last meeting unanimously voted to present you with a handsome watch and chain.

The undersigned, appointed a committee to purchase and present you with this gift, have fixed Thursday, Oct. 10, at the Fair Grounds, immediately preceding the Grand Gift Concert as an appropriate time and place for presenting to you publicly the testimonial so properly conferred.

Respectfully yours,
[Signed] R. J. HAWKINS,
J. M. HICK,
R. F. HOKE.

RALEIGH, N. C., Oct. 7, 1873.
GENTLEMEN.—Your polite and complimentary note has been received. It is very gratifying to my feelings to know that my efforts to aid the State Agricultural Society have been rendered freely, voluntarily and without any hope or desire of reward of any kind, other than to see our Fair a grand and noble success; an honor to the city of Raleigh and an honor to the State of North Carolina.

Believing that I have only done my duty as a member of the Executive Committee and a citizen of the State, I do not feel at liberty to accept the handsome present offered me by the Society, but while I decline the gift, I appreciate the high compliment conferred, and shall ever cherish it with gratitude and pride.

I am, gentlemen, yours, &c.,
G. W. BLACKALL.

To Messrs. Hawkins, Hick and Hoke.

SUPERIOR COURT—WEDNESDAY, Oct. 8.—Court met at 10 A. M. The case of the State vs. Ben. King, arson, was resumed. Maj. A. M. Lewis concluded for the State and R. H. Battle, Jr., for the defense.

The charge was read. One of the witnesses having said that King told him that he did burn the mill, but that he couldn't hurt him because he was a true Republican and so was Judge Watts. The Judge in his charge, said to the jury that he thought some reply to that assertion of King's was due. His Honor, then said: "I think, gentlemen, that I understand something of the duties and responsibilities of the position I hold, and am, accordingly, old to be blasted out of my office, or intimidated from what I consider a faithful discharge of the duties I owe to the public and the law, that I, in part, have to administer; neither am I responsible or care for the foolish expressions of the ignorant, or the carping of the vicious, whether they be political friends or enemies. You and I have a high and holy duty to perform, independent of party politics or the opinion of others. Friend and foe we will stand by the law, and the same law and the same justice." The Judge then said that if they believed the confessions of King he was guilty; that if they believed that he committed the act through his insanity, they must acquit. He then said that they must find, under the Amnesty act of 1866, not guilty. The jury were out about an hour and returned a verdict of "not guilty under the Amnesty act."

Six cases have been pressed. Others have been discharged upon payment of costs. Capias have been issued and alias taken in many other cases.

Eleven new bills have been found. The Grand Jury are investigating the recent infanticide committed by Mary Lynn, that they must find, under the Amnesty act of 1866, not guilty. The jury were out about an hour and returned a verdict of "not guilty under the Amnesty act."

SIX ANOTHER.—Hymen is making a serious impression numerically speaking, upon Raleigh's bevy of beautiful maidens. Yesterday morning, at 9 o'clock, Mr. A. C. Sanders, one of our well known and highly esteemed young merchants, was united in marriage to Miss Olivia, daughter of Maj. W. A. Blount. The ceremony was performed at the residence of Major Blount, on Hillsboro street, by Rev. Dr. Smedes, Rector of St. Mary's School, with an impressive and appropriate manner, which touched the hearts of all who witnessed the interesting scene. The youthful couple immediately afterwards took the train on the Raleigh & Gaston Railroad, for a Northern tour, bearing with them the good wishes of a large circle of friends and relatives for their continued happiness. We hope the future has nothing in store to mar their wedded bliss!

"Oh! there's a joy beyond all that the mind has to hold,
When two souls that are linked in one heavenly love,
With bow never changing and heart never cold,
Love on through all life and love on till they die."

CENTRAL ASSOCIATION.—This body will assemble in the First Baptist Church, of this city to-day, (Thursday.) The Committee on Hospitality will be at the Church, at 10 o'clock, a. m., to assign delegates to homes.

FIREMEN'S CONVENTION.—We have before announced that the colored Firemen of this State will hold a Convention in this city on the 15th inst. By request we publish the following circular letter relating to the matter:

To the Colored Firemen in the State of North Carolina:

We, the undersigned firemen and members of companies of the different cities and towns of this State, have agreed to issue and publish our call for a Convention of the Colored Firemen of this State, to assemble at the City of Raleigh on the 15th of October. The Convention will be held in the Victor Company Hall of that city, commencing at 10 o'clock a. m. The object of the Convention is to establish a united understanding with all the colored firemen in the State, in regard to our future welfare and prosperity. We believe it to be our duty to assist in extinguishing any and all fires that may occur in any city or town in this State. We believe a good reliable fire company in any town is as an insurance company. We further believe our movement will encourage those who are ready and willing to build up the good old North State. We hope that all colored companies in North Carolina, whose intentions are to protect property with their labor against fire, will comply with the request, for a Convention, by sending a delegate thereto. The said Convention will be composed of five delegates appointed from each colored fire company in the State, or each company is entitled to five votes on all questions in the Convention. Also every company is solicited to attend in full, as it is an important object.

THE DAILY NEWS.

JORDAN STONE, Managing Editor.
SAMUEL T. WILLIAMS, Political Editor.
THURSDAY, OCTOBER 9, 1908.

The trial and execution of the Modoc under the sentence of a Military Court was a landmark in its worst form.

The Wilmington Journal is sound on the Modoc question. Like the Raleigh News, that paper protests against the military murder.

Fifty-four interments in one day in Memphis show that the fever has seized upon the victims of that unfortunate city. Oh! it is terrible!

A GREAT victory for the Republic in Navarre province causes much rejoicing at Madrid. The Carlists are weakening and dispirited.

The Evangelical Alliance is such an immense affair, that it has been divided into four sections, which hold their meetings in different buildings.

Nor until Military Commissions are entirely abolished and the great right of trial by jury substituted therefor, can the United States claim to be a free Republican Government.

Miss Alice Mason now resides at Boston. She was lately known as Mrs. Chas. Sumner.

The above is the delicate and refined way in which the Baltimore Gazette tells about Mr. Sumner's little private matters.

The Wilmington Journal says the Modocs were tried, sentenced and hung by Federal officials, "without shadow of law."

Our cotemporary is mistaken. A very dark shadow rested upon the law when that military murder was consummated.

The Clinton Reporter pays a fitting tribute to the memory of Dr. Henry A. Bissell, a prominent physician of Sampson county, who died last Thursday, at his residence in that county.

Dr. Bissell will be remembered by many army comrades, who will be deeply pained to hear of his death.

The trial of Marshal BAZAINE, which is progressing in France, is one of a highly impressive and remarkable character. The fame of the accused, the charges alleged against him, the character of the witnesses, and the ability and eloquence of the counsel, are attracting brilliant assemblages in the Courtroom. This case will be recorded among the causes celebre in French history.

The Greensboro Tobacco Leaf has been removed to Statesville, and is henceforth to be called the Western North Carolina Tobacco Leaf. It has been greatly enlarged and improved. It is now neatly printed and presents a very handsome appearance. It is devoted to the interests of tobacco farmers, dealers and manufacturers. It has been adopted as the official organ of the North Carolina Tobacco Association. We wish it abundant success.

It has heretofore been an easy thing to procure divorces in Indiana and Illinois. The parties litigant were not even required to go into Court. The work was done principally by reference.

Judge GREY, of Chicago, seeing the door so plainly open for fraud and corruption under this custom, has determined to put an end to the pernicious practice. He has just issued an order, refusing to permit any more references in divorce suits.

The Western North Carolina Tobacco Leaf and Planter's Journal is entirely too long a name for one paper. We suggest in its stead simply the North Carolina Tobacco Leaf. Being the official organ of the North Carolina Tobacco Association, it ought not to have a sectional name. There are tobacco growers and manufacturers in Eastern North Carolina, who will join the Association, and the Tobacco Leaf ought to have a platform and name broad enough to embrace the whole State.

MESSRS. GLENNAN & ATKINSON, Proprietors of the Norfolk Virginian, have presented Captain JAMES BARROW HORN, late Editor of the Virginian, but now Editor of the Norfolk Landmark, with a magnificent gold-headed cane. The gift was a graceful compliment and worthily bestowed.

By the way, we learn from some of our exchanges that the Virginian is now under the editorial control of Capt. HAM CHAMBERLAYNE, one of the most vigorous, successful and popular journalists that the Old Dominion can boast of. But his name does not appear in the Virginian.

The Tobacco Interests of North Carolina.

It is not known in Europe and in the Northern States that North Carolina can grow as good tobacco as any State in the Union, or, perhaps it will not be too much to say, as any country on the globe. The tobacco farmers of Granville, Caswell, Orange and Person always get the highest market prices for their crops. We are not so familiar with the tobacco raised for the tobacco raised in Alabama, Gulfport, Ireland, and the adjoining counties, but we know the article has been successfully raised in Lenoir and several counties West of the Blue Ridge.

On the 17th of August last, the North Carolina Tobacco Association was formed at Greensboro, at which time a Committee was appointed to issue an address to those raising, dealing in or manufacturing tobacco in North Carolina, in regard to the objects, purposes and advantages of the Association, and to ask their assistance and co-operation.

The Western North Carolina Tobacco Leaf of Statesville publishes this address in full. It is a well written paper and contains much useful information in regard to the culture of tobacco, and its growth and manufacture in this State. We make the following extract from this able and interesting production:

"The fact that the discovery of tobacco was almost coeval with the discovery of Columbus, and that it was found to be an indigenous growth upon the soil of North Carolina, is the best proof that the climate and soil of this State are naturally adapted to its growth and culture, but if this element were lacking, the subsequent history of its culture, growth and manufacture here, would be ample evidence that the culture of the plant is inherently and peculiarly adapted to our soil. Again, the signs of Commission merchants and dealers in tobacco in New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Charleston, Savannah, New Orleans and Galveston, and we might add in the principal markets of European commerce announcing that they are dealers in the celebrated brands of North Carolina and Virginia tobacco, is a proof of the high appreciation with which this production is held by the civilized world.

When we come to consider the vast proportions of the trade; when we consider that the fine chewing tobacco for the merchantable world, is raised in about twenty counties bordering upon the State line, between Virginia and North Carolina; and when we remember that our lines have been cast in this very part of the country, it goes directly to the heart of the matter, to be filled with the importance of the subject which it has been made our duty and pleasure to elucidate.

The magnitude of the question may be better illustrated by stating that the tobacco crop of last year, in North Carolina, has been estimated to exceed fifty millions of pounds, which, at an average price of ten dollars per hundred, gives us a staple which annually turns loose upon our commerce the amount of five millions of dollars. Brought into the country by this industry, and once set in motion, it goes into the actual wealth of the State, and helps to build up our material prosperity. It goes directly into the hands of the planter, to be by him turned over to the merchant, the doctor, the lawyer, the editor, &c., &c., and thus lubricates the machinery of trade; gives an impetus to every diversity of industry, and places North Carolina on the high road to material independence.

The tobacco plant, requiring, as it does, eighteen months of unremitting labor and attention to raise and prepare it for market, and our limits being restricted, it would be entirely improper for us to enter elaborately into the details and minutiae connected with its cultivation and management. If we can say a word or let fall a syllable that will advance this particular branch of our industry and wealth; promote the development of the latent resources of our impoverished State; infuse a spirit of energy and enterprise into our farmers, planters and manufacturers; and convince them all that their respective interests are identical; dispel the gloom and despondency which seems to have settled like a pall over the actions of many of our best men; convince them that we inhabit the garden spot of our great and grand Republic, and thus restrain them from seeking homes in the inhospitable climes of the North West, or the no less disagreeable breath of the burning sirocco which sweeps the broad prairies of the South West; that in a proper development of our God given resources, the prosperity and happiness of our people are sure to follow if we can succeed in riveting upon the minds of those who read these lines, the importance of the subject, the benefits of co-operation, the advantages of a uniform rule of action, we shall be more than compensated, and look to the future for the bright reward which is so clearly indicated by the bow of commercial promise which even now spans our horizon.

Experience has proven that tobacco is certainly the main dependence of Virginia and North Carolina, and North Western North Carolina, and as indicated heretofore, the fact that our soil and climate are peculiarly adapted to the production of the higher grades, than can be grown elsewhere in the country, should constrain every raiser to do the best to promote this great interest, because it is our inherent source of wealth, and because we must look in that direction mainly for the benefits which must perforce follow its proper development. We have cotton fields, whose bosoms will soon be whitening in the autumn sun, and whose products will carry joy and comfort to the millions of earth's children, but it is an admitted fact, that where our soil and climate are adapted to its full development, there is no plant under the sun which, with proper care, skill and management, can be made to produce such a revenue as tobacco."

The condition of affairs in Memphis in consequence of the cholera is deplorable. The banks are closed, business houses suspended, and all persons who have means have left the city. The suffering and destitution among all classes who remain is very great, and their condition strongly appeals to the benevolent.

The Marianna Courier says there seems to be a mania in that section of Florida, for divorces. Parties who have lived as husband and wife for many years are nearly in the majority of those seeking relief from the yoke of matrimonial responsibility.

The rice crop of Louisiana the present season will be the largest ever produced, being estimated as high as 150,000 barrels clean, or 34,500,000 pounds. The crop last year was only 52,200 barrels, the year before 30,000, and in 1870 only 49,000.

A poor family in Pittsburg lately bought five camel-hair shawls at $3.00 apiece. They wanted garments that would be warm and comfortable, and did not care for show.

The inventor of the "FRANKLIN STEAM WASHER" was owner of the right to manufacture the "Improved Woman's Friend in certain territory." While manufacturing these machines, and watching attentively their action and the manner in which they operated, and the results, he discovered certain prominent defects, the result of ten months in the study of the subject of finding remedies for these defects. He has succeeded, and as the result of his investigation and study, he has published the "FRANKLIN STEAM WASHER," which is by far the best Washing Machine ever patented. We claim as an evidence of its merit that "LETTERS PATENT" were granted over all others.

It will wash anything from a Lace Collar to a Bed Blanket. It will cleanse the clothing without tearing and more thoroughly than can possibly be done by hand labor. The use of the rubbing board. With one-fourth of the labor four times as much can be done in the same length of time as can be done by hand. We could publish numerous certificates of its worth from those who have used it, but for the present we prefer to let the WASHER speak for itself. We give a few below:

MESSRS. BARROW & PLEASANTS, LOUISBURG, September 27th, 1908.
GENTLEMEN:—Before purchasing your Steam Washer, I paid four dollars for one for our family washing; now without any additional help I have the washing done and pay fifty cents a week to have the ironing done. In this way I save the month, and my clothes are much whiter, and I am satisfied, will last much longer when washed by rubbing of the use of a board. It is all that you recommended. Very respectfully, Mrs. C. M. COOK.

MESSRS. BARROW & PLEASANTS, LOUISBURG, September 18th, 1908.
GENTLEMEN:—I am using your Steam Washer, and it proves a success and I am pleased to recommend it to the public, and testify to its being all that you sent it to be. Very respectfully, Mrs. J. H. GIBSON.

MESSRS. BARROW & PLEASANTS, LOUISBURG, September 18th, 1908.

Says the Hillsboro Recorder of the 8th inst: "Mr. William Overly, of Fayetteville, informs us that his father is still living in Surry county at the age of 114 years. He was born in Mecklenburg county, Va., in the year 1759. His memory is bright and unimpaired, his memory bright and accurate, his eyesight perfect. His physical powers are failing, he having been an invalid for about eighteen months, from breaking one of his legs by a fall. His habits have been such as to set at defiance all the rules and theories of the abstemious. He has lived like all the mountaineers, eating abundantly, drinking freely but never excessively, and using tobacco since early manhood.

His wife died during the war, at the age of ninety. The pair were the parents of sixteen children, eleven of whom reached maturity. The oldest son is living, a vigorous man of 83, and the oldest daughter at the age of 80, she is a great-grandmother.

The newboys on Wall street are nearly as sharp as the brokers. They have once or twice, during the crisis, almost raised a financial panic on their own account. On Black Friday No. 2, one kept cash, whose paper announced the suspension of the First National Bank of Washington, dropped the "Washington" part of the news, and left it to be inferred that it was the First National Bank of New York. His papers went off like hot cakes. Observing this, the other boys on Thursday tried the same game when the First National Bank of Memphis failed, and produced such a horror among the business men that the police were called upon to interfere, and did arrest one or two of the knowing gamins. In a dozen years these young ones will have experienced a sort of transmigration from honest and respected newdealers into sanguinary bulls and bears.

There was a hall storm in Dinwiddie county, Va., on Sunday last. A good deal of damage was done.

A RUNAWAY BRIDEGROOM.—Fashionable London had lately the sensation of a runaway bridegroom. There was every preparation made for a wedding of the most brilliant description, as one of the West End churches. There was a squad of clergymen all ready, and a surpliced choir; the crimson carpets were laid down to the church doors to the carriage-way; some of the guests were at the bride's house and some at the church, when an alarm was raised by the best man that the bridegroom could not be found. His bed had not been slept in, but his wedding suit was laid out ready to wear. Nobody knows whether he ran away or was spirited away. Even the buzz which was in readiness for the continental honeymoon, and which had been carried the previous day to the railway station, was missing. Probably the poor man got frightened at the last moment and bolted. "Who has he been known to be agitated by a similar despair under the tremendous circumstances, and so utterly desperate that they would have absconded if they had not been closely watched by the friends of the bride."

Thomas Jefferson is known to have soled his leisure hours by playing the violin, on which he was proficient. His fondness for the instrument may be inferred from the following anecdote, quoted from his "Domestic Life," recently published by Harper & Brothers: "In 1770 the house at Shadwell was destroyed by fire, and Jefferson moved to Monticello, where his preparations for a residence were sufficiently advanced to enable him to make it his permanent abode. He was from home when the fire took place at Shadwell, and the first inquiry he made of the negro who carried him the news was after his book, 'my young master,' he replied carelessly 'they were all burned; but, ah! we saved your fiddle.'"

Mrs. Hill, who shot her husband at New Worcester, Mass., on Sunday evening, did it in a unique way, with all the accompaniments of fashionable life. She was walking beside him and asked him to take her parasol for her. He took it, and she then, after putting her hand in her pocket, drew out a pistol, asked him to let her kiss him. He consented. She put her arms about him and put a lead bullet in his left lung. His recovery is doubtful.

Le Sieur Fromagot, has just died at Ivory, France, of joy. The old man was poor. He suddenly came into a large fortune. He attempted to walk to the house of the maire, but he was so excited that he fell, and his body was not able to bear it. He fell dead. The physicians at the inquest testified that he died from cerebral congestion of the brain, brought on by excessive joy at his accession to fortune.

At the execution of James Conner, at Kirkcaldy jail, the rope broke, and the wretched man fell to the ground. "I stood it like a brick," he said, "and they ought to let me free." The hanging, however, was effectually performed the second time.

ever ready to assist, I can sell, do sell, and will continue to sell as

CHEAP AS THE CHEAPEST.

No house in Raleigh can or shall undersell me, it matters not whether the goods are purchased in Europe or the United States, and for these important reasons: 1st. I am alone, and have no two or three partners to divide my profits with. 2nd. I have less of a store house at a mere nominal cost. 3rd. I believe in the great principle of Live and Let Live—GIVE SELL AND SWEET PROFITS.

1st. I have large experience, buy at the lowest prices, and with the best facilities.

2nd. I have the best of teachers, has long since informed the people that is the place to buy their goods, and as here I shall always Represent Goods as They Are.

Returning thanks for past favors, I hope to secure your patronage in the future. Respectfully yours,

ALEX. CREECH, Raleigh, N. C.
